Free Parent Workshop

Better Communication, Better Behavior

Do you wonder why your kids don't listen to your instructions?

What we don't realize is that many times it's because we aren't clear in what we are asking, or aren't consistent with rules.

In this workshop, we will present easy strategies parents can implement immediately that will improve your communication with your children and will increase their compliance with rules and instructions. We will also introduce the science behind the function of behavior, which will assist parents in understanding why children behave the ways they do, and also teach parents how to respond.
